Important information for your business

We have lots of important information this month to help your business cope with the effects of the coronavirus (COVID-19), so please take the time to read it and click on the links for the articles. We will be sending out our usual March update next week, but we felt it necessary to send this separately to you.

Please talk to us if you need help to re-estimate your income tax, prepare profit & cashflow forecasts for banks or insurers or subsidy claims, negotiate tax instalment arrangements or to write contingency plans.

Wage Subsidies and Tax Relief

On 17 March 2020, the Government announced a stimulus package of wage subsidies and tax relief to support businesses, as well as the expected health and welfare packages. Even self-employed, contractors and freelancers can apply for assistance if income affected by coronavirus. Read more...

Guide for Business

Several of our client businesses have been affected by changes in supply and demand due to the coronavirus pandemic. We have written this brief guide to help.

- Keeping employees safe
- Dealing with leave obligations
- Getting financial relief
- Planning for the worst, hoping for the best

The team at JDW Chartered Accountants Limited are keen to help our clients, and we will make sure that we can stay available for consultations. We are all working at the Ellerslie office daily, but we have the resources to work from home when required.

We encourage you to make appointments before coming to see us. If you are unwell or have been overseas recently, please don't come to our office. You can contact us by phone, email or video call.

Please keep in contact. We want to help.
